

DRIVER INDUCTION AND REFRESHER COURSE

COVID-19 has proved to be a challenging time for businesses and their employees. As individuals, we're all a little more anxious, a little more wary of the world around us.

Some of us may have just returned from a break in business driving. While others may have just started driving for business. Either way, that presents a big risk for employers.

Our 1-hour driver induction and refresher virtual training session, with behavioural expert Andy Neal, will take a look under the bonnet and get your staff feeling confident, refreshed and performing at their best.
