CUSTOMER-FOCUSED, EXPERTLY DELIVERED SAFETY MANAGEMENT

CARDINUS CONSULTANCY SERVICES

DELIVERING SCALABLE SAFETY EXPERTISE ACROSS THE GLOBE

At Cardinus we like to think we are different to other health and safety consultancies. For a start we have a wider base of expertise than most. With road risk, security, ergonomics, behavioural safety, property and fire experts in our team plus leading software solutions and a global reach we can solve many of the far-reaching challenges our clients face. And, when we can't we have some great partners who can.

Our expertise extends from offices through to manufacturing, and with a diverse client base, including SMEs, global corporate giants, insurance companies and trade bodies, we're well placed to provide the support you need.

Our Approach

Our approach is to understand you and your needs. We aim to develop programmes that make a difference to you and your people. We recognise that cost is a key issue when engaging a consultant, however, we also recognise that values, ethics and a focus on people are important to ensure we deliver an outstanding product.

Our aim is to help you understand your risks and manage them sensibly within the requirements of any legislation or business requirements.

We achieve this through our expertise and knowledge. We will help you reduce complexity, improve colleague and stakeholder engagement and identify opportunities to improve compliance and reduce costs.

Our Services

Safety Management Systems

We have experience of developing all kinds of safety management systems, from simple bespoke systems for an SME to those that meet OHSAS 18001 / ISO 45001 standards for larger, more complex, organisations.

Our passion is to develop safety management systems that accurately reflect the organisation, its people and risks. Our aim is to work with you to build systems and programmes that are prioritised to address the real issues and risks you face. We will work to reduce complexity and we look for opportunities to reduce costs.

We are happy to review, adapt or design policies, procedures and risk assessments that are relevant to your teams and easy to follow. For larger organisations we offer a range of support and expertise to simplify complex programmes. We can support behavioural safety programmes, assist in stakeholder engagement and internal communication programmes.

Global Safety Programmes

We have expertise in developing programmes for companies who work across international borders. We can help you understand the complexities and opportunities of working across cultures and with external bodies and workers' councils and assist in global audit programmes or preparing your organisation for certification or reaccreditation.

With our links to the insurance industry we can work with you to deliver a programme that will mitigate risks and achieve cost reductions.

Safety Auditing

Most of our clients have health and safety management systems in place. Many organisations concentrate on easily identifiable safety risks and often overlook those risks that really matter. In these circumstances help is needed to develop a programme to meet a growing organisation and its needs. Our auditing programme ranges from a full audit to a simple inspection of your safety risk assessments and policies. We look at how you can develop your safety documents and processes in a way that is simple and effective and will help you identify costs to the business that can be eliminated.

Competent Person Service

We act as the safety competent person for a range of companies. In this role we are your 'go to' safety advisers. This benefits organisations who do not have an internal resource or wish to complement their internal support.

Our competent person service includes a ½ day site visit to review your site safety arrangements, health and safety policy and supporting documentation. We will provide you with a follow up report and recommendations. What makes this service great value is that you have a company safety adviser of huge experience who is backed by a team passionate about keeping people and businesses safe and healthy while reducing complexity and costs.

Our consultants are professionally qualified and have a wide range of industry experience and knowledge. We provide support to our clients by phone, email and in person.

Safety Risk Maturity Model

Our service is based on understanding the complexities of working across matrix management systems and the need to understand and measure the maturity of an established health and safety management system. We have developed tools and are able to train teams to use them and understand engagement techniques such as Nudge Theory.

Expertise Where You Need It Most

We pride ourselves on giving you expertise where you need it most. That is why we offer a range of support that touches on all aspects of your safety requirements.

Post-Accident/Incident Investigations

When things do go wrong, do you have the expertise or time to understand what caused the issue and how to prevent it happening again? We offer post-accident/incident investigations, which provide clients with an independent report that details incidents and provides recommendations for future improvement.

We partner with legal teams experienced in health and safety prosecutions and defence, providing great support for companies going through difficult and stressful times.

Risk Assessments

Risk assessments are a legal requirement and are key to running a good safety system. However, many assessments do not accurately reflect the activity being assessed or are overly complicated and not understood by staff. We can conduct your risk assessments for you, including DSE assessments. We have access to specialist support skills, which include ergonomists and physios.

Mentoring and Support

We are also very proud of our knowledge base. Staff who have just undertaken safety training, or are going through the training, can benefit from having an experienced safety professional to speak to, bounce ideas off, or simply to ask for advice.

Health and safety covers such a wide variety of issues that it's important that safety advisers/managers have support of other professionals – and who better than a group of professionals with more than 30 years' experience in a wide range of industries and have worked with the Health and Safety Executive, IIRSM and experienced serious incident investigations? We know exactly what needs to be done when it comes to safety management and how actions need to be documented in a way that improves safety and protects employees and the company.

Our consultants are there to back up the in-house team and promote what they do.

We can provide bespoke programmes that will look at areas such as wellbeing, behaviour, driver and people safety. Our team are regularly invited to speak at events, provide specialist input to trade magazines and run our own in-house training sessions.
